I hope your summer has been refreshing, with all of the rain, Thank you, God! Relaxing, and fun!

After the July 4th weekend, I will begin putting information in the bulletin for this coming Religious Formation year: 2026-2027.

Praying that you have an enjoyable 4th of July weekend!

Saint Benedict was a Christian monk who taught people to live balanced lives through prayer, work, and helping others.

Children can learn from St. Benedict by understanding the importance of :

Prayer: Taking time to thank God and reflect on blessings.

Work: Doing tasks cheerfully and responsibly, whether at school, home, or helping others.

Good Deeds: Helping family, friends, and community members with love and compassion.

DID YOU KNOW.....

Did you know the Church wants us to be joyful even when facing death?

Most of us feel a natural fear of death, yet deep down, we also sense that death isn't the end. The Catholic faith speaks directly to that longing. We're made for peace, love, and purpose, but even more, we're made for God. As St. Augustine beautifully said, "You have made us for yourself, O Lord, and our hearts are restless until they rest in you." Christianity never treats death as an isolated moment. It's part of the bigger story of who we are. God created us for holiness and eternal life, but because of sin, suffering and death entered the world. Naturally, death can feel frightening. It strips away everything we hold dear in this world and places us face-to-face with the truth of our lives and with God. At the moment of death, the soul separates from the body, which is temporary because God created humans as a union of body and soul (CCC 1005, 366) So, Catholics can face death with hope, trusting that Christ has already conquered death. Because of Him, we can approach our own death with peace, trust, and even a sense of going "home" to the Lord. Jesus Himself tells us, "I am the way, the truth, and the life. No one can come to the Father except through me." (John 14:6) Those who choose His mercy enter heaven; sometimes after the healing purification of purgatory. Think of it as washing up before a big date, except this is a shower of purifying love for our soul before we see God. This is also a place where our prayers help the faithful departed, draw closer to God. At the end of time, Christ will raise our bodies, revealing God's full plan and reconciling all things in Him. This hope gives joy even in suffering and inspires us to stay close to Christ through lives of faith and love. As life draws to its close, the Church surrounds us with prayer, the Sacraments of Confession, Anointing of the Sick, and Holy Communion. These help us meet God with peace, mercy, and reconciliation. The Christian hope is simple and profound: to die in a state of grace, at peace with God and others. Heaven is the joy of seeing God face-to-face, surrounded by angels, saints, and family members who have gone before us. And death doesn't sever our relationships, it transforms them. The saints pray for us, and we pray for the souls in purgatory. Love in Christ becomes a bridge, not a barrier. Jesus reassures Martha, and us when He says, "I am the resurrection and the life. Those who believe in me, even though they die, will live... everyone who lives and believes in me will never die." (John 11:25-26) Death is real, but it is not final. In Christ, death becomes a doorway into the life we were made for, a life of joy, love, and communion that never ends. And even now, we remain spiritually united with those who have gone before us, with the hope of seeing them again. Want to know more about heaven, purgatory, and how to avoid hell? Contact your local parish office. Stay tuned next week when we discuss what it means to have faith and where we can find more of it.

God Bless, Deacon Frank
